

ERASMUS+/ICM

TUNISIA - FEBRUARY 2020

The Higher Institute of Technological Studies Ksar Hellal (ISET-KH) is one of the first partner HEIs of the University of West Attica (UNIWA) under the framework of Erasmus+ / International Credit Mobility program and the first one in Tunisia. The Inter-Institutional-Agreement was signed between ISET-KH and the former Piraeus University of Applied Sciences on 2016, as well as a new expansion between ISET-KH and UNIWA has recently been signed to extend the agreement until 2027.

In February 2020, UNIWA's colleagues Mrs Androula Panagi and Mrs Stavroula Anastasopoulou from the Department of Food Science and Technology visited ISET-KH under the framework of the Erasmus+/ICM program for training mobility. Their training sessions took place in the chemical laboratories including interactive teaching processes, testing and analysis capabilities through the use of test stations. Meetings with laboratory staff, the International office staff and its director Professor Medhi Chehata occurred under the best impressions.

The two UNIWA's colleagues underlined that:

"In ISET-KH, we found different ways of practicing in the laboratories, the way they work gave us new techniques and skills and the differences between our cultures allowed us to find new communication ways. The University's well maintained environment, the used good practices during their laboratory courses and the students high educational level, offer high standards in the academic process."
